

Figure 67g: Photographs of minor structures in the autochthonous rocks (con't.)

g. Quartzite of the Hogg formation is generally competent and not internally deformed. This photo shows that where it is involved in the Big Salmon complex, even competent rocks of higher stratigraphic units are transposed on an incipient crenulation foliation.